JARRELL FINDS A

 OVER FAIR

Santa Fe Publicity Man Says Determination Found Everywhere to Win Big Prize Means Magnificent Display.

TOUR OF STATE BRINGS OUT WORK BEING DONE

Party of Railway Officials Sizing Up Attendance Astonished at Businesslike Preparations for Displays.

There is a spirit of friendly rivalry among the counties working on exhibits for the state fair which will make that feature of the exposition one of unusual attractiveness and exceptional value as an advertisement of New Mexico's resources, in the opinion of J. F. Jarrell, publicity agent of the Santa Fe railway, who has been making a trip over the state.

In company with Superintendent F. E. Summers of the Santa Fe Rio Grande division and W. A. Cameron, traveling freight and passenger agent, Mr. Jarrell spent the last three days in Grant, Luna, Dona Ana and Socorro counties, and he had previously visited Santa Fe and San Miguel counties. In each of the counties named a strong committee is at work preparing the best display possible. Each county is getting up a surprise and the Santa Fe officials were pledged to secrecy everywhere.

"Now, don't you tell the fellows at Deming about the display we are going to have at Albuquerque," said Judge M. W. Porterfield of Silver City, who has charge of the arrangements for the Grant county exhibit. "Our stunt is going to be a top-notch, and we want to make it exclusive," Judge Porterfield added.

Carl Hinton, secretary of the Silver City Chamber of Commerce, has called a general meeting to tonight to arrange for Grant county day at the state fair, which probably will be Wednesday, October 12.

At Deming the Santa Fe men found P. E. Southworth, county agent, who is looking after the Luna county display, very busy, and equally cautious about his collections, which Mr. Jarrell says are fine. In Whippers Mr. Southworth confided to the visitors that everybody at the fair would be aware that Luna county is there with the goods.

H. B. Link, secretary of the Las Cruces Chamber of Commerce, could not keep the Dona Ana county exhibit a secret as the committee is going to try it out at the county fair. Mr. Jarrell says that this exhibit will be a leading attraction. There will be a replica of the Elephant Butte dam, a real room of alfalfa, a display room built of corntalks and a model irrigated farm.

"We are going after some more prizes at Albuquerque," Secretary Link confessed.

Santa Fe county has set out to put a crimp in the ambition of Dona Ana county, and will be on hand with an elaborate exhibit. "Don't say a word, but keep your eye on our smoke," said Secretary George H. Van Stone of the Santa Fe Chamber of Commerce.

In his travels Mr. Jarrell found that the people regard this as a state fair rather than an Albuquerque enterprise. "That sentiment," said President Putney, "will bring good results. It will make every citizen who is interested in the growth and development of New Mexico feel that he is a part of the exposition. That sentiment, manifesting itself to J. M. Connell, general passenger agent of the Santa Fe railway; J. E. Kuntz, general freight agent, and our good old friend Fred Fox, general manager, inspired them to utilize the state fair as a basis for advertising the resources of New Mexico to the housewives of America. New Mexico, with a real state fair, statewide and of state importance, is in position to lead the southwest in the march of progress."

All of the counties likely will have their "days" Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of fair week. The county delegations will be met by a band, and there will be addresses of welcome and responses.

Delay in Payment of Albuquerque Contributions Blocks Work of Final Arrangements, Says Putney.

PARADE COMMITTEES HOLD BUSY SESSION

Arrangements Make Headway for Two Magnificent Spectacles on Wednesday Night and Thursday Morning.

The collection of the subscriptions to the fund raised in the one-day campaign last summer is the matter that is now absorbing almost the entire attention of the state fair management. Several collectors were out yesterday and today and a considerable proportion of the total amount subscribed was collected, but the number of people who put the collectors off on one pretext or another caused President Putney to issue a vigorous statement on the subject.

"This money should be paid promptly," declared Mr. Putney today. "Those who subscribed to the fund knew that the amount of their subscriptions would be due September 15, and in view of the importance of the matter they should have made provision for prompt payment. Every man who puts the collector off hampers the work of the fair management by just that much and makes it more difficult to achieve the success that we have started out to make."

The parade committee of the fair held an important meeting last night in the office of the First National bank, and the plans which had originally been laid for the work of this committee were considerably elaborated. Instead of one parade driving fair week there are to be three big affairs. The first is to take place on the opening day, and will be participated in by the various military organizations that will be in the city at that time, together with marching clubs from all the civic and fraternal bodies of Albuquerque.

The most spectacular of all the parades will be on Wednesday night, when a big illuminated parade will be given. This will form at some central point down town, proceed to the fair grounds and go twice around the track in front of the grandstand. Prizes aggregating $2500 will be offered for the most brilliantly decorated cars and floats in the parade. The first prize being $250, the second $150 and the third $50. A committee of artists from Santa Fe and Taos will be asked to act as judges in this contest.

On Thursday, Albuquerque day, an industrial parade will be held, to be participated in by the merchants, manufacturers, business houses and labor organizations of the city. This will be the big day of the fair and the parade will be the big feature of the day.

Acceptance of the invitations extended by President Putney to the high officials of the state to be present at the opening day exercises continue to come in. A letter from Congressman H. C. Hernandez received at the state fair offices this morning stated that Mr. Hernandez is endeavoring to arrange his affairs at his ranch so as to be here at the opening of the fair, with every prospect that he will be able to do so. Letters were also received from Senators Stuart Justice, Frank W. Parker and State Superintendent of Public Instruction Alvan S. White, accepting Mr. Putney's invitations.

Go Without Water From Two to Six Months, Getting Moisture Enough for Their Needs From the Country.

Sheep's ability to go without water in dry country is the theme of an article in the National Wool Grower by J. D. Jardine, a forest service grazing expert, well known here.

Mr. Jardine writes of sheep in the high country of Idaho and Wyoming where they are known to go two and three months without water. They get sufficient moisture to sustain life out of dew and succulent woods and grasses.

Commenting on the article, John Kerr, grazing expert of the district office of the forest service, said that he knew of sheep with the same remarkable adaptability on the Lincoln forest, southeast of the Mangano forest, over in the Arizona country, added Supervisor Mullen, of the Mangano national forest, sheep will go on the desert in December and remain there until June without watering, wearing moisture enough from the country to keep themselves going.

Governor McDonald has issued a full pardon to Irvin Ogden, Sr., publisher of the Spanish-American, a weekly paper at Ros, Mora county, which will release him from the state penitentiary immediately his commitment thereto has been signed and served, under the affirmation by the state supreme court of the judgment of the lower court, which sentenced Ogden to from six to nine months in state's prison upon conviction on a charge of criminal libel. Ogden was convicted of having published matter held to be derogatory to the character of the assessor of Mora county. The text of the pardon, which will be in the hands of the warden of the penitentiary when Ogden's commitment is presented to him, and which will serve to release the editor at once, is as follows:

"Now, therefore, I, William C. McDonald, governor of the state of New Mexico, by virtue of the authority in me vested by law, do hereby grant to the said Irvin Ogden a full and complete pardon from said sentence, and a remission of said fine and costs.
